

Cataract Dam - August 16

A last-minute cancellation meant that only a handful made the outing to Cataract Dam, unfortunate because those who attended had a damn good time.

It was certainly worth while to arrive early as we had the pick of picnic places. Fay and Terry Cullen hunted down the perfect spot, out of the cool breeze, in the sun and under shelter.

Brian Nicholson was good enough to give Ray Selby a lift as Ray's dodgy knee was soon to be replaced and he couldn't drive. They were soon followed by Vince and Judy Holloway.

Lunch was BYO in keeping with COVID requirements, and some of the presentations were lavish.

After lunch we drove down to the dam for a leisurely stroll across the wall. It was so pleasing to see capacity close to 100%, in marked contrast to twelve months ago when we were in the grip of the drought. The impact of the bushfires could be seen, too.

Cataract Dam Mk II is on Sunday 1st November, so hopefully you can make it to this very picturesque place - plenty of open area and a chance to give your Morrie a good run.

Cheers,
Owen Sinden
